In Memory Many Friends Rest In Our Rural Soil

By G. M. LUDWIG

This MEMORIAL DAY column will contain the necrology of the burials made in the rural and small town cemeteries of Johnson county since last year.

I am not guaranteeing full accuracy in this list. Mistakes and omissions have undoubtedly been made. It is certain that burials have been made in this county that are not in this list, since I did not receive full information from the northeast section of the county.

I will appreciate very much if my attention is called to the mistakes and omissions. If it is done I will include these in a subsequent report.

It is my hope that by another year, should I still have the responsibility for this column, I will have available more facilities for the compilation of such a necrology. Perhaps each local sexton will be glad to volunteer to check for me all the burials made in his cemetery.

Perhaps also by then this list can be presented chronologically rather than alphabetically. If the date of each burial is listed I feel certain such an annual report could easily become a valuable institution.

Here is the list:

Space does not permit to present, with this list much interesting information relative to the burial of these our fallen comrades during the last year. I may do this sometime later.

Suffice it here to state that these are our neighbors who have elected to have their mortal remains laid to rest in the soil of Johnson county—THE RURAL SOIL OF THIS COUNTY.

Here they can sleep in peace. Here they are covered with the garments of Mother Nature. Over them is the beautiful green of summer and the spotless white of winter.

HERE THEY ARE NOW ALONE WITH THE ALONE.

Here above their beds the gentle breezes will play a constant requiem in the tall pine trees.

For most of the information contained in this report I am indebted to the cheerful and gracious cooperation of the funeral directors that operate in this community. These are:

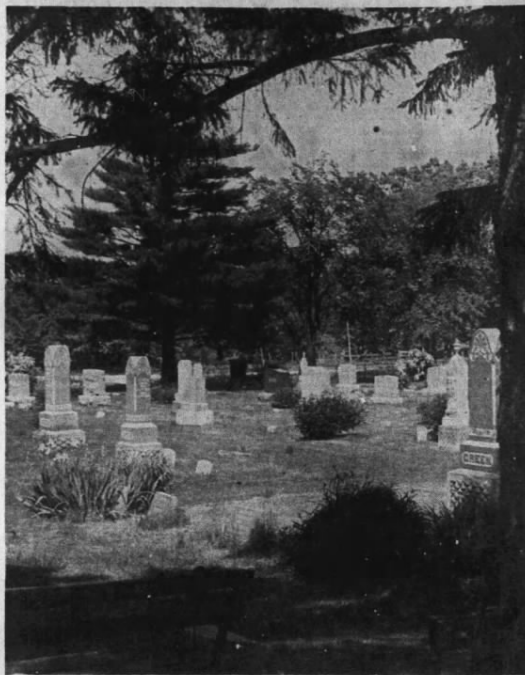

Beckman's, Hohenschuh, McGovern and Outhout in Iowa City, Marner and Adams of Lone Tree, Powell's of Wellman, Peterson's and Yoder's in Kelona, and Sanders of West Liberty.

Longman to Help Judge Art Exhibit

Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department of the University of Iowa, will be a member of the jury for the Old Northwest Territory Art Exhibit to be held at the Illinois State fair this year.

The jury will meet in late June in Decatur, Ill., to choose the exhibit and to award $3,000 in prizes.

Breeze in Pines Is Requiem

This is a sunlit scene in Ridgewood cemetery near North Liberty. Here, as in many other cemeteries of the rural and community areas, Sunday afternoon ceremonies will be held in note of Memorial day.

The program will begin at 2:30 p. m. and will include an address by the Rev. E. V. Steed of Iowa City. The Rev. B. T. Yeager will give the invocation and Miss Mary Wolfe will read General Logan's Order No. 11. Mrs. J. C. Fuhrmeister will also give a reading.

80 Neighbors Help Plant Corn for David Mulcahy

SOUTH UNION—Eighty neighbors of David Mulcahy, who lives about six miles southwest of Iowa City, arrived at his farm early Wednesday morning with plows, discs, harrows and planters to plow, prepare the ground and plant 30 acres of corn.

Due to the long illness and death of Mrs. Mulcahy, Mr. Mulcahy was unable to get his spring work done.

Those assisting were Will Rowland, Cecil Hughes, Carl Hastings, William Lenz, John Wolf, Maynard Thomas, George Black, John T. Wolf, Jr., James Meade, Ray Dornest, Mike Cahill, Lloyd Rowland, Robert Davis, Will Rockman, George Kline, Carl Williams, Merle Breeze, Fred Schmidt, Dale Altner, Kenneth Smalley, John Campbell, Sr., Robert E. Roberts, Milford Breeze, Kite Knowling, John

Jones, Bob Moore, Don Robertson, Richard Black, Wayne Roberts, Hal Knowling, Will Griffin, John Griffin, Harry Project, Herbert Williams, John Thomas, Oran Alt, George Graham, Tom Cusack, Elmer Williams, W. R. Hughes, Ray Hughes, Leo Robertson.

Food for the workers was brought by the group and served as a picnic dinner by the following women: Mesdames Walter Hughes, Grace Jones, John Thomas, Elmer Williams, Carl Hastings, Will Griffin, John Griffin, Will Rowland, John Jones, Ray Dornest, Milford Breeze, Fred Schmidt, Cecil Hughes, Robert Roberts, George Graham, Will Jones.

Children present were Joan and June Argo, Steven Griffin, David Schmidt, John Jim, Gary and Carolyn Hughes, Duane and Donna Thomas, Mariana Myers, Richard Wolf, Larry Dornest and John and Kite Knowling, Jr., also Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes and Mrs. Elizabeth Rowland of Stoneburg, Pa., who were here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Mulcahy on Monday.

The Cline Implement Co. of Iowa City was on hand with a truck to transport the discs from field to field.

Butler County Gets New Extension Men

ALLISON (P)—Dale W. Nelson, Wellsburg, has been employed as Butler county farm bureau fieldman. It was announced recently.

Edouard A. Thompson, Stanhope, has been hired as extension director of the county.

MEMORIAL DAY RITES PLANNED

Exercises Will Be Held on Sunday At Riverside Cemetery

RIVERSIDE — Memorial day services for next Sunday afternoon have been announced by Ivan Shradel, local post commander of American Legion Post No. 237.

Commander Shradel states the exercises will be held under the auspices of the American Legion and will get underway at 2:30 p. m. in the Riverside cemetery. The Legion urges all of the members meet at the Riverside Public school at 2 p. m. to participate in the afternoon activities.

All Legion members are to be in uniform and the early meeting is desired in order to form a color guard, a firing squad and other groups to march from the school to the cemetery.

The Legion auxiliary members will meet at 2 p. m. at the cemetery gate to complete their arrangements.

During the past week the Auxiliary members have been making wreaths as usual each year and which will be placed on the graves of the departed soldiers.

To Attend Clinic

Dr. Thomas Borstead, local veterinarian, will be in Waterloo Thursday of this week to attend an all-day clinic for veterinarians. The meeting will be held in the Dairy Cattle hippodrome.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Chalupa and daughter, Nadine, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kuera and children, Kenneth and Laurel, were entertained Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Forbes and family at Conesville.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Karel of Iowa City were Sunday visitors here with Mrs. Anna Krotz and other relatives.

GROWING IDEA

Iowa State college dairyman Robert Fincham says that the day may not be far away when nearly a quarter of a million Iowa dairy cows will be artificially bred each year.
